

North East LHIN Physician Leads Working With Top Docs To Create Patient-Centred Care

Dr. Gary Bota, North East LHIN Emergency Department Lead, talks about the importance of putting best evidence practices at the point of care so that busy ED doctors can use them to improve patient outcomes. Three of the North East Local Health Integration Network's (LHIN) physician leads presented at the North East Hospital's Medical Leaders Conference in November. Dr. Derek Manchuk (left), the North East LHIN's Critical Care Lead, spoke about regional Ebola planning and the work of the Virtual Critical Care Unit. While Dr. Paul Preston (right), the North East Primary Care Lead, talked about primary care's role in the health care system and new ways to improve linkages.
