

Creating Healthy, Resilient and Inclusive Communities

Close to 300 Northerners gathered on Tuesday for the North East LHIN's Mental Health and Substance Abuse Forum featuring 24 presenters at the Steelworker's Hall in Sudbury. Carol Mulligan, health reporter with the Sudbury Star, (bottom left) moderated a panel discussion which explored the theme of the forum "How to create healthy, resilient and inclusive communities." Panelists included (top left to right): Shana Calixte, executive director of NISA, North Bay Mayor Al Macdonald, CEO Jim Baraniuk, of the Algoma Mental Health and Addictions Integrated Anchor Agency, Pamela Milton, Peer Lead with the CMHA Cochrane Timiskaming Branch, and (bottom left) Sharon Wabegijig, coordinator with Raising the Spirits Mental Wellness team.

